Episcopal Convention.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, October 29, 1868.

In the Episcopal Convention yesterday, the canon relative to Assistant Bishops, in which the Upper House refused to concur, was tabled today.

Resolutions of condolence with the English Church on the death of the Arch Bishop of Canterbury were adopted and a telegram was drafted and forwarded.

Eight messages were received from the House of Bishops, among them a resolution establishing a new missionary jurisdiction in the Far West, and the appointment of several committees.

A resolution on the alteration of the Rubrics was referred to the Committee of Prayer Book, who reported they deemed it inexpedient to take any action regarding a new translation of the Nicene Creed. The report was adopted.

The Committee on Canons reported an amendment so as to make it unlawful to hold public sale of pews in any consecrated church or chapel. This, in the form of a resolution condemning such sales, was, after some debate, adopted.

The President, in eloquent words, reviewed the acts of the Convention, and thanked the delegates for their kind consideration, and bade them farewell.

The House then took a recess of two hours, during which the delegates were invited to assemble outside of the church and have their photographs taken.

After recess messages were received from the Bishops concurring in the action of the House on various subjects, announcing the appointment of Bishops of New Jersey and Pittsburgh, to certify the changes made in the Constitution and Canons by this Convention and the appointment of Bishops of Ohio, Maryland, North Carolina, Rhode Island and Western New York as a Committee on Church Unity, and nominating Rev. O. J. Whittaker, of Nevada, as Missionary Bishop of Nevada and Arizonia. He was elected by a large majority and testimonials were signed.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

Governor Scott's Proclamation—The Numerous Murders and Outrages Committed in the State.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHARLESTON, October 29.—Gov. Scott has issued the following proclamation to the citizens of South Carolina:

Fellow-citizens:—The numerous complaints made to this department of murders and outrages committed by wicked and inconsiderate persons, excited by intense party feeling, has made it my duty to issue the late proclamation calling on all good and true men, without respect to political predilections, to unite in a determination to discountenance and denounce lawlessness and violence, and in an effort to recover and maintain the good name that has heretofore been the heritage and pride of our beloved State, it is now my pleasing duty to congratulate you upon the beneficial results that have ensued from the admirable and well timed address of General Hampton and the Executive Committee of the Democratic party. In honest and impressive terms they have called upon the people to support the laws, to preserve peace, and to denounce those crimes which have recently been committed in some portions of our State. These patriotic counsels cannot fail of having a wide and wholesome influence in moderating the vehemence of feeling of those to whom they are authoritively addressed, while they had quieted the apprehensions and conciliated the respect and good will of their political opponents. This is certainly a just cause of congratulation to every well-wisher of the State, and it gives me unfeigned pleasure to acknowledge it, and I earnestly invoke the co-operation of every member of the Republican party in reciprocating to the fullest extent the pacific policy so admirably inculcated by the democratic leaders. Let acrimonious and irritating discussions be avoided and appeals be made to the intelligence and reason and not to the fears or passions of the community. Differ as we may in political sentiment it is the dictate alike of wisdom and patriotism for all to appeal to and confide in the efficacy of peaceful remedies for political evils, actual or supposed. Let bear and forbear be our maxim and so shall the peace, prosperity and honor of our beloved State be maintained and perpetuated. Her time-honored escutcheon will be preserved unsullied and undimmed in all its original purity and lustre. [Signed.]

SHARPSBURG.

Grand Torchlight Demonstration—Etna, Shartstown and Sharpsburg in a Blaze of Light—General Enthusiasm—Decorations, &c.

Last night, under the auspices of the Shapsburg Republicans, was held a grand illumination and torchlight demonstration. The affair was one of the grandest and most significant held in our county during the exciting campaign now being brought to a close, and was certainly without precedent in the boroughs in which held. A delegation of Grant Clubs filling sixteen cars left the Allegheny depot of the Western Pennsylvania Railroad from our own and sister city at seven o'clock in the evening to participate in the damonstration, excursion tickets being generously furnished at half fare. On arriving at the depot in Sharpsburg the visitors found the home companies of that neighborhood ranged in line to receive their guests. The Pittsburgh and Allegheny clubs were not long in forming, and the procession took up its march in the following order, under command of Chief Marshal J. C. Lewis, aided by a full complement of staff officers.

First came Company G of the Grant Hussars, a branch of Colonel Bleakley's regiment, recruited in Sharpsburg. They were one hundred strong, under command of Captain Hilberg, and being mounted on fine horses, made a very good appearance.

The Allegheny Glee Club, led by Prof. Slack, followed. They were in a band wagon drawn by four horses, and along the route favored the onlookers with very excellent vocalizations.

Company A, Grant Hussars came next, one hundred and fifteen strong and preceded by a brass band. They were under the command of Capt. David Dunseath, and mounted on their spited chargers, which have made this company conspicuous throughout the campaign, presented their usual imposing appearance, and contributed no little to the success of the demonstration.

The Fourth Ward Allegheny Battalion, led by the inimicable Capt. A. P. Callow, next followed, led by their own popular martial band. Altogether this delegation numbered three hundred and thirty men, and were everywhere praised and admired for their soldierly bearing and conduct.

The Second Ward Allegheny, always on hand, came next, with one hundred and fifty in the ranks. They looked remarkably well, and marched with that accuracy and precision which has characterized them in all demonstrations. They were commanded by Capt. John Barter. They had also a burlesque klan of ku-kluxes appended to their delegation, which excited much merriment along the route.

The Grant Skirmishers of the First ward Allegheny, a company that has done its full share of duty this campaign, and one that can always be relied upon to make an exceedingly fine appearance, followed with one hundred and thirty men. Captain D. Williams commanded.

Next came the Eighth ward, Allegheny, Club, some fifty strong, under command of Capt. John Hoedle. The members looked very well, and marched in regular army style.

The Fourth Ward Grant Club, of Pittsburgh, one of our most valued home organizations, followed, making splendid appearance. They had with them twenty representatives of the Eagle Fire Company in firemen's dress and were preceded by Fielding's first class martial band. The delegation was in command of Lt. Col. J. Allen Trainor and Capt. McClure. The Fourth Ward Club has done excellent service for Grant and Colfax, and propose doing some more at the ballot-box.

Then followed the Sharpsburg Tanner Club, under command of Capt. W. C. Murphy, and about strong. This Club presented fine appearance and marched well.

Next came two or three companies of boys gaily uniformed and bearing torches. They were followed by the Millvale Club, a fine looking body of men.

The Seventeenth Ward delegation followed, over one hundred strong and under command of Capt. B. W. DeKnight. They were equal in appearance to any in the ranks.

The Lincoln Hose Club followed, about seventy strong, and attracted a fair share of attention.

The Etna and Shaler township Clubs came next, over one hundred strong, under command of A. G. Williams, marching well and presenting a splendid appearance.

Delegations followed from Pine Creek under command of Capt. Hiram Williams, and Eighteenth Ward under command of Capt. John Perkins.

The rear of the procession was brought up with a number of horsemen, wagons and vehicles. The route wound through Sharpsburg, passing over the principal streets down to and through Etna, at which place the companies were dismissed.

THE DECORATIONS.

We have hardly the space to properly notice the numerous decorations of dwellings and stores on the route of procession, for the illumination was very general, and we feel quite certain that many worthy attention escaped our notice. Commencing on Main street we observed Dr. Redlichs residence and Mrs. Parker's adjoining, both of which looked exceedingly gay with evergreens and lanterns. Dr. G. R. B. Robinson's dwelling was finely adorned, as was also the cigar store of the brave Siegel fighter, Major Gazern. M. A. Bennett's residence was ablaze with light and handsomely festooned with evergreens. The dwellings of Alex. Glasgow, Chas. Thomas, S. C. Robb's feed store and W. C. Meyer's dry goods store were very profusely decorated with lights and lanterns. Mr. Jacob Keyl, one of the most respected citizens of Sharpsburg, and a life-long Democrat, displayed his devotion to Grant and Colfax by a very fine illumination of his dwelling. The residences of William Overbeck, Rudolph Shinger, John Eisengart, Joseph McCalls and Jacob Fogle, on Main street, were very finely illuminated. The millinery establishment of Mrs. William Pritchford, and the residences of Lieut Shed. Williams, William Ayers, Louis Swann, Dr. Arnold Hertz, Mrs. White, Mrs. Stewart and officer Gallagher bespoke the patriotism of the inmates, all being very finely illuminated. The extensive store and offices of the firm of Lewis, Bailey, Dalzell & Co. were liberally decorated and adorned with a profusion of lamps. The residence of Lewis W. Lewis, Esq., a very fine building, was gorgeously trimmed with Chinese lanterns and evergreens; while that of T. H. Gibson, Esq., was ablaze with light. At the gateway was a stretcher with "Welcome" printed thereon and surrounded by many lamps. Mr. John B. Davis' dwelling was very tastefully arranged and decorated, displaying the beauty and patriotism of its occupants. The elegant residence of W. G. Roach, Esq., so conspicuously situated, was very elaborately adorned with lanterns and evergreens. It attracted much attention and was a highly creditable display. General F. H. Collier's suburban residence adjoining was a perfect blaze of light and looked quite charming and picturesque. The dwellings of Matthew McCleary, Mr. Hill, Thomas Gardner, Thos. Wright, Rev. T. H. Colhour, Chas. Grubbs, William Burns, Mrs. Miller, Capt. R. A. Nesbit, Nicholas Goshorn, Mrs. Neely, Mrs. Nixon, Alex. Stewart, D. A. Martin, A. G. Neff, James Kaye, Constantine Jordan, Joseph Arnold, J. C. Lewis, Dr. W. D. Courtney, J. Weigle, J. G. Henry, Joseph Connor, George Brawdy, Joseph Henry and John Pifer were all finely illuminated with lanterns, and presented a very fine appearance. Mr. J. C. Lewis' residence was very elaborately decorated, lanterns covering the house and being hung in profusion among the trees surrounding it. The residences of J. C. Kemp, John Cowan, Dr. J. Stewart, John J. Hanna, John Walder, Wm. Hanlan, Mr. Ray, John J. Saint, Henry Heintz, James Saint, Jr., J. W. Carey, Rev. Mr. Smith, Rev. Wm. Collier, and Rev. Mr. Wilson were beautifully adorned. The Messrs. Dunham, Mrs. Hawkins, Mr. Moffett, James Scott, Peter Prager, Henry Wilson, William McLain, Thomas Holmes, James Ross, Al. C. Noble, William Claney, J. Williams, John Shurtliffe, Mrs. Simons, Wm. Rhodes, Joseph Fisher, R. M. Coyle, Lewis Montzheimer and Lewis Dutliffe were specially worthy of notice, presenting a very fine appearance. The residence of Jacob Covode, Esq., brother of Hon. John Covode, was very finely decorated with flags and lanterns,

At Etna the illumination was also very general. The principal ones we noticed were by Robert Chesnut, Martin Leffler, M. Kiskadden, Edward Thomas, James McCauley, Esq. Smith, M. Sheets, George Evans, Mr. Hickman, Robert Givens, William Phillips, James Moore, Mrs. Solinder, Henry Ochse, George Keyl, Col. Jno. A. Danks, Marvin Williams, Crawford Hunter, Mr. Disler, Mr. Stone, William Hughes, Mrs. E. Hanna, J. King, Joseph Lee, Jno. Loyd, W. K. Mulholland, Christian Disler, John Wilson, Daniel Heaver, Adam Heaver, Charles Newmaster, Philip Young, Mr. Seitz, Mr. Mangold, T. Obenhoff, Peter Glosener, Mr. Bellster and William Avers. The mill, residence and office of C. F. Spang, Esq., were liberally adorned with lamps, flags and lanterns. Upon the whole the illuminatious were very creditable to the Republicans of that neighborhood and spoke volumes in evidence of their political liberality and spirit.

THE RESORT OF DESPERATE MEN.—"I would smash every ballot box and burn every poll list, if necessary to secure the election of Seymour and Blair, and thus save the country." So said a leading Democratic politician of Richmond county yesterday to a Republican neighbor, Dr. G——. The frenzy and maddened desperation revealed in this passionate outburst, truthfully illustrates the temper of the Democratic leaders to-day.—New York Commercial.

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

OCTOBER.

The summer-rose is dead;
The sad leaves, withered,
Strew ankle-deep the pathways to our tread.
Dry grasses mat the plain,
And drifts of blossom stain;
And day and night the wind is like a pain.

No nightingale to sing
In green boughs, listening,
Through balmy twilight hushes of the spring.
No thrush, no oriole
In music to out-roll
The little golden raptures of his soul.

O royal summer-reign!
When will you come again,
Bringing the happy birds across the main?
O blossoms! when renew
Your pretty garbs, and woo
Your waiting, wild-bee lovers back to you?

For lo, my heart is numb;
For lo, my heart is dumb—
Is silent till the birds and blossoms come!
A flower, that lieth cold
Under the wintry mould,
Waiting the warm spring-breathing to unfold.

O swallow! all too slow
Over the waves you go,
Dipping your light wings in their sparkling flow.
Over the golden sea,
O swallow! flying free,
Fly swiftly with the summer back to me.

—If some great mathematician would concoct and make public some difficult arithmetical problem, we might at least be able to find out which of the various renowned Democratic arthmeticians is the best. We would bet on him of the Post, as we know he figured that a Republican majority of 5,000 in West Virginia was a Democratic victory of 3,000, a feat unattempted by most of the others.

—Seymour has been here and is gone. Blair has been here and is gone. Pendleton and Hoffmann the same, and now it is about time for the Democracy to give the thing up or bring Judge Chase, and let him do it. John Quincy Adams might repeat his South Carolina speech here with effect. General Hancock would be listened to with attention, but they must be hurried up. Allegheny gave 9,000 Republicon majority after hearing Pendleton and Blair, so we think we can, without risk, expect from ten to twelve thousand after Seymour has spoken.

Need of Rest.

A writer in Lippincott's Magazine says: Head-workers need more rest than hand-workers. The old saw precisely inverted the proprieties of the case, so far as in involved them, declaring "seven hours' sleep to suffice the student, eight the laboring man, and nine the fool." The hours of hard brain work destroys, as before observed, more nervous tissue, and cause a greater substraction of the posphates from the system than an ordinary day's work at mere mechanical labor, the proportion of grains (in weight) being as 86:77. Above eveeything else, brain workers need sleep, early sleep and late sleep, and enough in the middle to feel "real stupid" at the end of it. Stupidity is precisely the condition into which this class of toilers should manage and devise and strive to get themselves for a time, longer or shorter, each twenty-four hours. Nothing rests the brain, and the whole working system like it. Narcotic stupidity, the product of ale, tobacco or wine, is not the thing referred to, though in emergencies this may, perhaps, be had recourse to as a medicine, but the quiet, reposeful readjustment of the nervous conditions and the recharging with vital force of the nerve batteries, the contacts not yet closed, the galvanic currents therefore not yet set in motion, but only filling up the system with a blind, diffused feeling of healthy sensations and reserved efficieney.

PERSONS who are accustomed to breakfast at restaurants will be at no loss to account for the dyspepsia that has so long been the scourge of the American people. Hot bread, as everybody ought to know, is highly indigestible, and never should be eaten under any circumstonces unless as an alternative with death and starvation. Observe the feeders at restaurant tables of a morning, and you will see that eight out of every ten, or there abouts, prefer hot bread to cold. A majority of them order two or three kinds of fancy bread, all hot, and all these are soaked thoroughly with butter by the bolters of them, so as to render them, if possible, more indigestible than they were as served. In England dyspepsia is absolutely unknown among the agricultural classes, who live much upon bacon and well baked cakes or bread eaten cold. In some parts of the Western states nearly every farmer and farm-laborer is a victim to it, and there is good reason to believe that this is mainly owing to the universal hot dough-cakes which form the staple of country fare in those districts, and to the collateral abomination in the way of fancy hot cakes gorged by the farmers on festive occasions.

THE elevated railway in New York city has been erected for the distance of half a mile at the lower end of Greenwich street, and the road having proved successful, both as regards its construction and the machinery to be used in its operation, will be extended to the northern end of Manhattan island. It is asserted that passengers can be conveyed from the Battery to Thirteenth street in fifteen minutes.

SOME one has calculated that the snuff annually consumed in France would make thirty columns as large as that in the Place Vendome, the smoking tobacco would make a solid cube as large as the Arch of Triumph, the chewing tobacco would fill 3780 large casks, and the cigars, laid to end, would stretch round the globe twice at the equator.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, October 29, 1868.

The panicky feeling in the Grain markets, noted for some time past, still continues, although the advices from Chicago were of a more favorable character, to-day, prices having advanced slightly. We should not be surprised to see the advance sustained, for a time, as there are many waiting to pitch in whenever there is the slightest indication that the bottom has been reached, and the impression seems to be general, that Wheat, particularly, cannot possibly go much below present figures. Parties who have been operating in Wheat during the past four months have lost heavily, as it has been declining steadily during the greater part of that time, and quite a number of failures are reported in the West. Nor, has the panic been confined to Wheat alone. Grain of all kinds has dropped materially, as has also Flour.

APPLE BUTTER—Is unchanged; sales in kegs, at 75c, and in crocks, at 80 to 85c.

APPLES—With continued large receipts, the market is dull and weak, with a drooping tendency; we continue to quote at $2,00 to $3,50 per bbl.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—Is quiet and changed, with sales of small lots in store at $5,50 to per cwt.

BUTTER—Is steady with a fair demand and regular sales at 33 to 35 for packed, and 38 to 40 for prime Roll.

CRANBERRIES—None in market; may be quoted nominally at $16 to $17 per bbl.

CHESTNUTS—In good supply and unchanged at $6 per bushel.

CIDER—Is unchanged but steady; may be quoted at $6 to $8 per bbl, according to quality and size of barrel.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, October 29, 1868.

The announcement of the failure of a prominent firm in the oil business had a depressing influence of the market to-day, and the improvement noted yesterday was almost entirely lost. The failure was caused by carrying a considerable amount of oil at prices considerably above those prevailing for some time past, and to throw it on the market now would cause a loss which they could not stand under. In regard to liabilities we cannot speak advisedly, but it is thought they will not be large. The parties referred to have always stood well in the trade, and in their misfortune, they have the sympathy of many warm friends.

CRUDE.

The market was exceedingly quiet today, not a single sale reported; prices, however, are nominally unchanged, 11¾ to 12c being regarded as the standard quotations. Buyers, generally, want to have gravity mentioned in the terms of sale, while sellers, on the other hand, want to sell regardless of gravity. We presume, that there is a difference of half a cent between light and heavy gravities, and there is little or none of the latter kind in market.

REFINED.

As already noted, the improvement in the market for Refined yesterday was lost to-day, October falling off a half to three quarters of a cent. Sale of 500 bbls for October at 29¾; 500 do at 29¼; 2,000 do at 29c, and 500 each November to March at 29c. Last evening there was a sale of 1,000 for October at 29¾c, and 500 each January to June at 30c.

RIVER NEWS.

The weather continues cool and clear, with but little prospect of rain, and the indications for a rise, we regret to state, are about as remote as ever.

The Sallie, (Capt. Stockdale's boat) was chartered at St. Louis, the other day, for the Illinois River trade.

—A Louisville telegram to the Cincinnati Commercial, says: All of the boats in the New Orleans trade have formed a line of regular steamers to ply between this city and New Orleans, each boat leaving in turn, and every boat is compelled to leave when advertised. Capt. P. G. Levi was elected exclusive agent, and Capt. Sturgeon Superintendent.

—The Cairo ferry-boat "Missionary" was sunk near New Madrid Saturday evening. She had been sent down to assist the steamer Virginia, aground at that place, and had lighted her of some 50 tons of freight. The Virginia commenced backing up off the bar, towing the Missionary, when the latter struck a snag and sunk in seven feet water. It is believed she can be raised.

—The following is from the St. Louis Dispatch, of the 24th. Gen. Rannay is about even with Dick Love and Capt. Hemmingway was the victim of a good joke yesterday, which cost him a considerable walk, and no little amount of indignation. Through the mail, yesterday, he received a notice to the effect that his restration as a voter had been objected to, and that he was required to appear before the Board of Review. Repairing to the National Hall, several miles up Broadway, presented his document, when the head man of the concern smilingly informed him that it was bogus. Capt. Hemmingway immediately smelt a rat, and turned tail and got out as quickly as possible. A number of kind friends awaited his return, and were very anxious to learn how he succeeeded. The occupants of the Memphis wharfboat enjoyed the joke hugely. The Captain is perfectly satisfied, however, that he can deposit his vote.

—We observe that the Memphis Avalanche, a rebel sheet, is very severe on Captain Sam. Houston, stigmatizing him as a Yankee, carpet-bagger, rad, etc., etc. Captain Houston is an old Pittsburgher, but for some ten or twelve years past has been engaged in boating on the Arkansas, and very successfuily, too. During the war, however, he remained loyal to his country, and this, we presume, is the main reason why the rebels are so very better against him. The Cincinnati Gazette, in commenting on the bitter assault of the Avalanche upon Captain H., says: Captain Samuel Houston stands high in this city. His word is as good as his bond, and several of our steamboat owners are ready at any time to back him. We have never known him to violate a contract. Socially, nobody is better liked. These are the sentiments of this community, where he is best known. How does this contrast with the Memphis Avalanche, the whole body of whose editor is not as large as Capt. Sam. Houston's heart?

—We clip the following from the New Orleans Crescent: The rumored loss of the Vicksburg packet, Gen. Quitman, referred to in our last issue, has, unhappily, proved to be but too true. On the 22d inst., at noon, she struck while landing at New Texas Landing, some unseen obstruction, and in a few minutes sank to the boiler deck. The buoyancy of the cotton kept her afloat long enough to enable all on board to save their lives, and also their baggage. Her clerks also saved her books, papers and valuables. The Celeste came along shortly after the accident, and brought to this city her passengers and crew. We were unable to ascertain the amount of insurance by which she was covered, but are informed that it will fall short of the actual loss. The boat will prove a total loss. A great portion of her cargo ill be saved in a damaged condition.....On the 22d day of October, 1865, the steamer Majestic, commanded by Captain J. C. Dowty, bound from this port to Red river, took fire, and was burned near what is now known as New Texas Landing. The Gen. Quitman, coming along just after the catastrophe, brought to this city her passengers, officers and crew. Day before yesterday, just three years the very day, and almost hour, the Gen. Quitman sunk at the same place, and what appears strange, is the fact that a steamer (the 'Celest), commanded by Captain J. C. Dowty, arrived shortly after the accident and brought Capt. Leathers, together with his crew and passengers, to this city.

ALL the BLAIRS' met yesterday in family council, at New York, over the dead Democracy. The buzzards gather about the dead eagle!

A LEADING Democratic journal says that "only four or five thousand in Pennsylvania need to dismiss their prejudices, to give a victory to the Democracy." Their "prejudices" and the Democracy will be dismissed together next Tuesday.

SOME kid-gloved exquisite, writing in the New York World, says that "every citizen who voted the Democratic ticket in the State elections, will vote for SEYMOUR and BLAIR." How little that person understands the temper of the people!

THE New York World predicts the success of the Democracy by virtue of SEYMOUR'S rhetorical flourish around the circle. Honest voters know a trick worth two of that, for they mean to extinguish the opposition, newspaper, orator and all, with the overwhelming logic of their ballots.

OUR OHIO neighbors cling to the old-fashioned notion that laws are made to be enforced. Result—two Democratic Judges and one Democratic Congressman under arrest, for the most flagrant violations of the naturalization and election laws. When all the rogues get their deserts, we can make a similar report for Pennsylvania, reversing the figures.

THE average decline in the price of standard wheat, in the Chicago market, for the last thirty days, has been one cent a bushel, and bottom has not yet been reached so far as appearances indicate. The supply in the market, owing to the abundance of the crops, has baffled the calculations of the speculators, and many of them have suffered severely, and all without general sympathy in their losses.

MR. SEYMOUR would have done better to have substituted his companion and friend, Mr. SANFORD E. CHURCH, to discuss the taxation question. CHURCH has made several speeches in the canvass, in which his complaints were bitter against "the taxes which are grinding him to powder." An investigation into the facts shows that all the grinding to which CHURCH had been subjected was just two dollars for two gold watches!

THE writer of this was caught in the thickest of the crush in front of SEYMOUR'S position on Wednesday evening, but was able to note the cheering effect which the surging mob produced upon that eminent statesman. Reminding him, as it did, of the enthusiasm of his "friends" in New York, when he harangued the murderers of O'BRIEN, the asylum-burners of '63, the Governor's eyes brightened up, his previous depression vanished, and HORATIO was himself again. It was just "the lemon that man wanted"!

RECENT ADVICES from the Southern States afford assurances that the late elections in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Nebraska, have produced, as we predicted they would, a beneficial effect upon the rebel population. They now see that with the election of GRANT and COLFAX, which is absolutely certain, they will either be compelled to behave themselves or submit to just punishment; that Republicans are to be made as safe in their persons and property, at the South, as the Democrats are at the North. This change in their convictions has not come one moment too soon, and the sooner and more completely they conform their conduct thereto the better for themselves and the whole country.

NEXT TUESDAY

Is the day of the Presidential Election—not the second Tuesday of the month, but "the first Tuesday after the first Monday."

EVERY VOTE WANTED.

Remember, friends, that you had only ten thousand majority the other day, and that if you leave only five votes at home in each of the two thousand election districts of the State, you will feel sorry for it afterwards. Keep tally-lists constantly checked up, your vigilance committees on the qui vive, plenty of teams to send for absent voters, and do not touch your mid-day meal until you feel sure that all is well.

THANKSGIVING.

Thursday, November 26th, has been appointed by the Governor of this Commonwealth, to be observed as a Day of Thanksgiving for all National and Individual Blessings. We print the Executive Proclamation, inviting the attention of our readers to its suggestions and recommendations, which the Governor conveys in fitly chosen terms, and which address equally our understandings and our hearts.

GRANT'S POLICY.

Here it is, and in his own words: "This much I wish, and I DECLARE THIS TO BE MY POLICY: That such a degree of peace and tranquility shall exist in this country that a man may speak his mind in any part of our great land, and that without molestation or hinderance."

If President GRANT carries out that policy—and he is the man to do it—the Republic will again enjoy peace and prosperity in all its borders. Do we need anything more?

HOW SHALL I VOTE?

Can the citizen who loves his country be guided more safely than by the memorable injunction of the Great President? No citizen who commits to memory these words will fail to vote right next Tuesday:

"With malice towards none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and for his orphan; to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

HOLD THEM TO THEIR OWN ISSUES!

The Democratic candidates and speakers are trying to remove the unfavorable impression created heretofore by the revolutionary utterances of BLAIR, as endorsed in their platform. Be it remembered, therefore, that the Brodhead letter demanded a President who should "trample the laws in the dust, at the head of his army," that the platform reiterated that demand in a more decorous phrase, and that the Pittsburgh Post sustained it as follows:

"General Blair's doctrine on this subject is the doctrine of the Democratic party. He has expressed it forcibly, but others have advocated the same thing, and it is in accordance with true wisdom and sound policy."

A FAIR WARNING!

No friend of General GRANT, no well-wisher to his country, can read the annexed extract from the New York World of the 28th without feeling it to be the most forcible of all admonitions to himself to do his own personal duty on Tuesday next. BLAIR and SEYMOUR, the reckless advocate and the feebie apologist for a new era of anarchy and blood, are to be elected, says the World, because the Republicans, falsely confident in their past meagre victories, slacken their efforts and fail to go to the polls. Not much! See what your enemy relies upon, and let it be remembered. This is all of it:

"The false confidence with which the Republicans have been puffed up by their successes in October, will cause them to slacken their efforts. They have got the opinion from their newspapers that their success is assured any way, and many Republicans will not go to the polls. Their party organs would make themselves ridiculous by proclaiming that there is any danger, after all their noisy bragging about "a Democratic rout." The mere relaxation of effort on the Republican side would be sufficient to give us the victory.

THE ORATION LAST NIGHT.

The Hon. EDWIN M. STANTON was welcomed last evening, in the City Hall, by a vast concourse of his old friends and neighbors, eager to bear testimony to his priceless services in the national cause, and to hear from his lips a discussion of the duties yet to be performed in consolidating into laws and institutions the grand results attained through the war. The hall was crowded to the utmost limit of its capacity, and the eminent Statesman was welcomed upon his appearing by peal upon peal, swelling from the hearts of the multitude present. Though suffering from illness, and consequently in a weak condition of body, his mind displayed the same vigor and elasticity which characterized his performances in the days of his highest physical energy. As no man, either in the Cabinet or the field, contributed more during the progress of the war to its energetic prosecution, or to its ultimate success in the preservation of the Union, so no man in the Presidential canvass, now near its close, has presented a more cogent argument upon the momentous questions involved therein, or more deeply moved the sympathies of his auditors by appeals to their patriotism.

THE New York Democracy are desperately alarmed by the vigorous investigations, now in progress in the Federal Courts, as to the frauds committed by them in the business of naturalizations. They have also reason to fear that a large number of their "bogus" voters will come to grief at the polls next Tuesday. Consequently, the Democratic Attorney General of that State has published an opinion that all such voters may swear themselves through without producing their papers at all. If that Attorney General will bring his carpet-bag to Pennsylvania, the Democracy will employ him to run their next campaign. WALLACE'S fires ineffectually pale before such a luminary!

SEYMOUR ON LABOR AND TAXATION.

When Mr. SEYMOUR addressed the citizens of this county with the transparently absurd declaration that, were it not for direct or indirect taxation for the support of the Government, six hours of labor per day would be ample for their support, after which they could throw down their tools and go home, his presumption upon their ignorance was grossly insulting. He wished it to be believed that, if all taxes were abolished, labor could sustain itself with but little more than half its present application. More than one half of his auditors know better than that. They know that all our taxation is in two modes, internal and by way of duties or customs. They knew that the internal taxes are to-day paid by the wealthy, by the luxurious; that no article of prime necessity to all is burthened with any excise whatever; that the demands, even the very face, of a Federal tax-gatherer, are unknown to the masses.

The people have investigated this branch of the subject thoroughly, and are satisfied with it. As for the customs, or duties upon imports, Mr. SEYMOUR harangued the wrong crowd when he came to Allegheny county to inveigh against that sort of taxation. Let us thank him for exposing his hand. Let our operatives, the working element which controls this community, inform these New York free-trade politicians next Tuesday, that we have but one objection to existing tariffs, and that it is that they are not high enough. We know, better than this soft-handed demagogue supposes, that, with the removal of these restrictions upon the imports of the products of the pauperized, oppressed, aristocracy-crushed laborers of Europe, the death-knell for American industry would strike instantly, and that not six, nor even sixteen hours of the hard labor of our citizens and mechanics would suffice them, to retain their independence and ease in the comfortable homes which now reward their exertions. The American operative is a man of culture, of intelligence; he has the ability to win, and by his toil, does win and enjoy the right to a well ordered rest, where, in the bosom of his family, he instructs and improves himself, educates his children, fits them for the highest enjoyment of their citizenship, and so occupies a social plane infinitely above the ignorance and hopeless subjection of the European workman. American labor, protected in the enjoyment of its own markets, is well paid, well instructed, and well satisfied; it is independent and proudly boasts its equality in the highest political and social rights. How little of this falls to the lot of the British or Continental artizan? Yet Mr. SEYMOUR would persuade the working-men of America to strip themselves of these advantages, which a wise policy of protection secures to them in a tariff of duties upon foreign productions, and would have them descend to the unequal competition which would prostrate the industries of the nation in a month.

But, let Mr. SEYMOUR reflect. There was a time, within his own recollection, when the Democrats had the ordering of the government, conceived all the policies, and carried them into effect through the instrumentality of laws. This was not so brief a space as to leave it undecided what the Democrats would do if they could. For thirty years, at least, they were potential in the government, and they alone. Whatever systems of taxation existed, they decreed and put into operation. Did they succeed, through the adjustment of taxation, or any other means, in reducing the hours of labor in any or all of the industrial callings, to six hours a day? Clearly they did not. So far from it, the daily hours of labor were then considerably more than now.

Why were the Democrats impotent in this regard through that long period? No dodging, Mr. SEYMOUR! if you please. Only two answers to this question are admissible. Either no power existed in the Government to control the hours of labor, any more than the price of wheat or beef, or else the Democrats did not care to direct the forces of Government to that end. You may take which horn of this dilemma suits you best. By either choice you hang, self-impaled, a deliberate falsifier of obvious facts.

Now, the truth is that the Democrats, when they directed the government, did not shorten the hours of labor because they could not. Perhaps, they would not have shortened them if they could. Certainly, in the slaveholding States, where their chief power was, they showed the most diabolical intent to make the condition of the laboring masses as hard as possible. Mr. SEYMOUR! you are not a statesman, but a demagogue, and you disgrace the personal and social standing which gives you most of your eminence by dealing with cardinal principles in a way, which, if you followed it in dealing with a neighbor's property, would consign you to a penitentiary.

Workingmen understand that in proportion as industrial processes fall less under the dominion of muscular force, and more under the control of intelligence embodied in machinery, not simply the drudgery of mechanical and manufacturing employments, is alleviated, but the hours of labor are curtailed. This tendency has not reached the point of development it is destined to attain; but, in the end, whatever is desirable in this way will be wrought out. Nor is this all, or the best of the modern movement. In the old time the capitalists owned the laborers, whether they were black or white. This Conservative usage died out, some time ago, to the extent that white capitalists ceased to hold white laborers on these conditions; but white capitalists continued to hold black laborers thus, in this country, down to the date of President LINCOLN'S Proclamation of Emancipation, and with Mr. SEYMOUR'S hearty consent and aid.

The next step in the movement was so to adjust matters as to give the laborers their just share of the proceeds of their toil. Something has been done in that way; but not all that ought to be and will be. This adjustment will not be achieved by Mr. SEYMOUR, who never performed a day of physical work in his life, but through the efforts of genuine laboring men themselves, and mainly by various applications of the principle of co-operative industry. In other words, the laboring masses are destined to work out, and are really working out, their own salvation. There is no other in which it can be done.

GOV. SEYMOUR'S DISLOYALTY.

Mr. JUNIUS H. HATCH, of Buffalo, sends to The New York Herald the originals of the affidavit and letters printed below, substantiating Gov. SEYMOUR'S disloyalty at the outbreak of the rebellion:

NEW YORK, Oct. 12, 1868.

To Hon. Junius H. Hatch, Buffalo:

DEAR SIR: You ask me for an account of what the late Judge Charles H. Ruggles, formerly of the Court of Appeals, said of Mr. Seymour's disloyalty.

Soon after the the rebels organized their government at Montgomery, Alabama, and published their Constitution, I met the late Judge Ruggles in the city of New York, and he said in my presence, at No. 12 Wall street, that Horatio Seymour stated to him that he (Seymour) thought the Montgomery Constitution was a great deal better than ours, and that we ought to overturn the rotten concern at Washington, send our New York representatives to the Montgomery Government and bring that up to Washington and go on under it. Mr. Ruggles added that he had formerly acted with the Democratic party, but he could no longer act with a man or a party that took the position in relation to the rebellion that Mr. Seymour did. Yours truly,

DEXTER A. HAWKINS.

AFFIDAVIT.

City and County of New York ss.—Dexter A. Hawkins, being duly sworn at the request of the Hon. Junius H. Hatch, deposes and says that the allegations in the foregoing letter are, as to the statements of the late Charles H. Ruggles, true of his own knowledge. DEXTER A. HAWKINS.

Sworn to before me this 14th day of October, 1868.
DANA L. HUBBARD, Notary Public,
New York City.

MR. WENDELL PHILLIPS, not content with his many unquestionable claims upon the attention of his countrymen, has resolved to establish a reputation as a prophet. He predicts that the Democratic party will die so completely on next Tuesday that no resurrection will await it.

In venturing this prediction he takes a superficial view of what the Democratic party is. The names of political parties have come to signify as little as the names of individual men or women. They are simply traditional, and of no intrinsic weight or consequence whatever.

Two parties necessarily exist in all countries, whether organized as imperial monarchies, or as limited monarchies, or as republics. When that apparently nebulous era known as the millenium shall arrive, it is barely possible only one party may remain, but this is only conceivable, for it is by no means manifest that purity of intentions and purpoees result in identity of ideas.

Two parties have existed in this country, from the beginning up to the present time; and two parties are likely to continue evermore. It does not matter at all to thinking people by what names they are or shall be called. The Conservative party may as well continue to be known as the Democratic as by any other appellation whatever. Some people are conservative by natural constitution or by discipline, and conservative they will remain. As such they will affiliate with each other, and co-operate to resist the progress of human affairs.

That the Democrats will be badly defeated we undoubtedly believe. All the portents indicate that a most humiliating overthrow is before them; that the great issues now pending will be irrevocably decided against them; and that the results wrought out by the war for the preservation of the Union will be permanently established. But political tendencies will be unchanged. The development of the nation cannot be hindered. The party of Conservatism and the party of Progress will each still remain in the country, and in the future, as in the past, be found in antagonism.

THE situation in Louisiana is very critical, yet we recognize an element favorable to the maintenance of the peace in the peculiar dispositions which have been made by the Federal and local authorities. Gen. Steedman has been put at the head of the New Orleans police. He has been a bitter partizan, but is now avowedly cool in supporting the Democratic nominations. He is a man of great energy and determination, and can keep the peace if he will, and if duly seconded by Gen. ROUSSEAU. We think he will show himself both capable and resolute, and that ROUSSEAU, being distinctly advised from the War Department that he is held responsible, will heartily co operate with him. It is well understood, now, by each of those men that their personal interests will be promoted by a faithful and vigorous performance of their duties. Let us see how they shall regard their accountability!

THE FEDERAL officers in New York and Ohio are doing their whole duty, in the prompt and fearless investigation of the flagrant violations of the Naturalization laws which have occurred in those States. We are not yet able to report a similar action by the Federal officials at Philadelphia—although it is manifest—in view of the inherent legal questions, as well as of the disinclination of our own officials to interfere in the premises—that we must look only to that quarter for the proper punishment of the wrongs which have been perpetrated. It is the fashion in Pennsylvania to move slowly, and doubtless the public demand will in time be duly heeded. Let us, therefore, hope that the day of impunity for these Democratic assaults upon an honest ballot-box will soon be ended throughout the land.

THE Washington Reporter says of the Chartiers Valley Railway that the subscriptions recently made to the new stock have been accepted as valid by the Company as also, by the managers of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company; that the only obstacle now remaining to the commencement of the work is a controversy with the Noblestown Plank Road Company as to the right of way; that this obstacle is nearly removed, and that the work will be resumed at the farthest early next spring.

THANKSGIVING.

The President has received assurances from nearly all the Governors of the States that Thursday, November 26th, will be appointed for Thanksgiving day.

THE REIGN OF FRAUD IN NEW YORK.

Let us try to feel some reasonable confidence that the assurances, given by the New York Tribune, as follows, may be realized, and that the vote of that city next Tuesday may not be more than twenty thousand beyond its legal number. Here are its promises:

The only hope the Democracy have of carrying this State for Hoffman res's upon frauds committed and planned in this city. The naturalization frauds have been pretty well ventilated, and more than one prominent man, and more than one active official, is pretty sure to find himself before a Court of the United States, where Mr. Oakey Hall cannot shelve the indictment or protect his coadjutors in fraud. Arrangements have been made to arrest, under warrants from the United States Court, every person presenting a fraudulent naturalization. As to another class of frauds, equally stringent measures are in process. The lists of those registered in the first two days are being carefully and systematically scanned. Already the names of 4,000 persons have been found who do not reside at the places from which they have registered, and precautions have been taken to procure the arrest of those persons if they appear at the polls on election day. The same course will be pursued as to the registration of the next two days. Relying upon the shortness of the time, it is intended, by the Democratic leaders, to register large numbers of "repeaters," men who shall pass from district to district, registering and voting in each. The calculation is that a gang of twenty "repeaters" can poll five hundred votes. We are happy to say that measures have been taken by which this class of frauds will be prevented. A very large force has been organized, who, from Friday and Saturday evenings next to the morning of the election, will devote themselves day and night to inquiries as to the right to vote of every person registered.

WHO WINS IT!

The Philadelphia Press says:

A stand of State and National colors awaits the county polling on next Tuesday the greatest pro rata increase of Republican votes over the vote of October 13. A similar stand will be given to the township showing the greatest similar increase. They are the gift of the Boys in Blue of Pennsylvania and a premium or hard work. Who will win them? The terms of the offer—for a pro rata increase—make it an open race, where all start even.

VALLANDIGHAM, in his Crestline speech, substantially conceded GRANT'S election. We quote a very significant paragraph:

We will have peace certainly; perhaps, if General Grant is elected; certainly, if Grant proves himself a patriot and worthy of the high office, forgetting mere partisan feeling and acting in the spirit of true Republicanism. If he shall act in the spirit in which he took General Lee by the hand at Appomattox Court-house, we will have peace. [Applause.] Yes, we will have Union again; we will have fraternal affection again.

IF MR. BLAIR doesn't know that the decision of the Milligan and Bowles case does not and cannot touch the Reconstruction Acts, he doesn't know enough to be Vice President. He is the only person who has made the unique and original discovery that in this case the Supreme Court passed upon the constitutionality of the Reconstruction laws. Is Mr. Blair a fool or a knave, that he thus ignores the fact that this decision was made before the Reconstruction laws were enacted? His explanation only makes matters worse.—Cleveland Leader.

COUNSEL FOR THE CARELESS.

The body is a machine, and carelessness in its management is as sure to lead to evil results as carelessness in the management of a steam engine. Yet the last thing that most people think of is the protection of this delicate piece of the Creator's handiwork from the subtle causes of disease by which it is surrounded. It is no easy thing to repair the system when in ruins; but there is no difficulty in fortifying it against many of the dangers to which it is exposed. Guard against nervous debility. At the first symptom of this fore-runner of more serious ailments, sustain the flagging energies of nature with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Take it regularly and persistently, until bodily vigor is thoroughly restored. It creates an appetite, promotes—or, it might as properly be said compels—the complete digestion of the food, regulates the secretive action of the liver, tones and invigorates the bowels, improves the condition of the blood, and gives firmness to the nerves. Upon a system thus strengthened and regulated in all its important functions, the fogs and exhalations of autumn, pregnant with the elements of intermittent fever, can make little or no impression. Whoever supposes that fever and ague is an unavoidable evil in certain districts, at this season of the year, is egregiously mistaken. As effectually as a draught of cold air is shut out by the closing of a door, this complaint, and all disorders of a miasmatic type, may be prevented by the use of the BITTERS. When sickness can be avoided by a means so safe and simple, is it not the merest fatuity to neglect the proffered antidote? Regarded either as a preventive or a cure for dyspepsia, biliousness, intermittent fever, nervous disorders, general debility, or constipation of the bowels, this pure vegetable preparation stands alone.

DISEASED LUNGS.

There is no doubt whatever that diseases of the lungs, or ulcers of whatever sort, on any of the internal organs may be and are frequently cured, and a complete condition of health established. If the elaborative functions, of which the stomach is the primary and most important one, are restored to a condition to do the repairing of the human system, ulcers or sores, whether upon the lungs, the liver, the kidneys or the bowels, or upon the legs, as is frequently the case, can be made to heal, and a complete standard of health re-established.

We have frequently seen these results from the use of Dr. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE, a pleasant and agreeable medicine, which will ripen up and carry out the animal economy all effete and used up material. Dr. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE is enriched by some of the most valuable plants and herbs known to be useful and curative in all deteriorated states of the human blood, and whilst it adds to its plasma, it at the same time stimulates, gently but effectively, the skin, the kidneys, the liver and the glandular system to sufficient action to enable the body to take on healthful action and eradicate the disease. The sick and afflicted should bear in mind the virtues of this great medicine, and if those who are sufficiently alive to the importance of health, will resort to it in the beginning of a cough or cold, there would be no falling into deathless and rapid consumption, so hopelessly incurable, and so most surely fatal. Let any one afflicted with any pulmonary disease try but one bottle, and they will be convinced of the value of Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure. Sold by the gross, dozen or single bottle, at Dr. KEYSER'S Great Medicine Store, 140 Wood St.

AN AUTOGRAPH LETTER FROM

GEORGE D. PRENTICE, Esq.,

Editor of the "Louisville Journal."

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 5th, 1866.

DR. LIGHTHILL—DEAR SIR: I am very sorry to learn that you contemplate leaving Louisville at the end of the present week. I earnestly wish that your engagement elsewhere might permit you to remain here for a longer time.

Your sojourn among us, Dr. Lighthill, will be long remembered by our people. It has been a blessing to many. You have treated me and a female member of my family with great success. You seem to me to understand, as by intuition, the character of a malady and its best remedy. You have a multitude of patients in this city, and I have not seen or heard of one to whom you held out the promise of relief without rendering it. Your entire practice among us has been a brilliant success, and I cheerfully recommend you to my friends and the public at large as a physician deserving the utmost confidence.

Hoping that you may live long to be a blessing to additional thousands of the afflicted, I am, very truly, yours. GEORGE D. PRENTICE.

TESTIMONIAL FROM THE

REV. JOHN NOTT, D. D.,

Professor in Union College, Schenectady.

SCHENECTADY, January 17th, 1866.

DR. LIGHTHILL—SIR: Having been cured by you of a discharge in an ear, which has been very offensive of late, and, far back as I can remember, always more or less so, and having been entirely restored to hearing since under your care, I feel that I cannot withhold this acknowledgment from any use it may be to others, especially as I have applied in vain to my family physician and other physicians of reputation. Yours truly,

JOHN NOTT.

LETTER FROM

C. C. WAITE, Esq.,

Proprietor of the Sherman House, Chicago.

CHICAGO, November 6th, 1868.

DR. LIGHTHILL—DEAR SIR: I wish to express to you the appreciation of your skill as a practitioner, particularly in the relief afforded many afflicted with Catarrh; I, myself, having received permanent benefit from your treatment. Congratulating the afflicted in the West of an opportunity to avail themselves of your invaluable services, and wishing you much success, I am, yours very truly,

C. C. WAITE.

TO MY FRIENDS AND THE PUBLIC:

It affords me great satisfaction to be able to testify to the success of Dr. Lighthill in the treatment of deafness, and express my sense of obligation to him. My hearing has been impaired for a number of years, at times to such an extent as to embarrass me seriously. Dr. Lighthill, under whose care I placed myself, has removed the difficulty completely, and restored me to perfect hearing.

This Company, National in its character, offers, by reason of the Large Capital, Low Rates of Premium and New Tables, the most desirable means of insuring life yet presented to the public.

The rates of premium being largely reduced, are made as favorable to the Insurers as those of the best Mutual Companies, and avoid all the complications and uncertainties of Notes. Dividends and the misunderstandings which the latter are so apt to cause the Policy-Holders.

Several new and attractive tables are now presented which need only to be understood to prove acceptable to the public, such as INCOME-PRODUCING POLICY and RETURN PREMIUM POLICY, in the former, the policy-holder not only secures a life insurance, payable at death, but will receive, if living, after a period of a few years, an annual income equal in ten per cent. (10 per cent.) of the par of his policy. In the latter the Company agrees to return the assured the total amount of money he has paid in, in addition to the amount of his policy.

The attention of persons contemplating insuring their lives or increasing the amount of insurance they already have, is called to the special advantages offered by the National Life Insurance Company.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, October 29, 1868.

Gold was strong to-day at 134⅓ to 134⅜, and closed steady at 134¼. Speculators are now careful in their contracts for future delivery, and cover whenever there is a sufficient margin, since importers are about covering for duties and remittances to Europe.

Government bonds are steady, without much inquiry for investment, and dealers ar not over-anxious to buy largely; the sudden decline from 111⅞ for Five Twenty bonds, of 1867, to 109⅞, was not only occasioned by the temporary tightness of the money market, but had its orgin in the general collapse of all values, of stocks, merchandise, property, rents, &c., and in the erroneous belief that bonds must advance in Europe, and here with the decline of the premium on gold. True, there was an improvement in bonds in London and Frankfort-on-the-Maine, but not corresponding to the greater value of greenback and bonds here. The currency price of bonds depends entirely what course will be pursued to attain specie payments. If resumption of specie is forced by violent measures and sudden contraction of the currency, then bonds must decline, and go below the par of greenbacks, because money will command a higher interest in the market for any kind of business, and bonds would in this way find their level; if, on the other hand, no contraction and violent disturbances of the money market is resorted to, and we we will gradually arrive at specie payments, through the agency of increased prosperity, bonds must likewise decline in value, our bonds would no longer be an object to purchase by foreign nations; their own securities would command as high an interest as ours, and instead of bonds being shipped abroad, would be returned and offered in larger quantities than could be absorbed by investors.

Stocks have been at a stand-still to-day, and fluctuations were mere trifles; the entire list is stronger, and a better feeling prevails.

Business seems to improve, although money is scarce.

—The sales of gold on bids by the Sub-Treasurer to be contined at the rate of $300,000 per day for five days. This method has proved a great success, and has worked to the satisfaction of Mr. McCulloch and Mr. Van Dyck. They have each day received an average price for their coin, saving ⅛ per cent commission, and the puplic have been saved the disturbing element of private sales during the money pressure of the past ten days. The petition sent to Mr. McCulloch, signed by a few unknown firms, claiming to be importers, had no effect upon him in face of the unanimous voice of the business public in favor of public sales; and he deserves great credit incontinuing to distribute his surplus gold in a manner that will not disturb confidence, or disarrange business. Had he commenced to sell privately yesterday, the amount would have been magnified by the bears, and used as an intrument to still further demoralize the markets, entailing ruinous losses upon holder of merchandise, as well as securities. He now has had the opportunity to judge of both methods under the most unfavorable money market we have had for years.—New York Tribune, 28th.

CENTRAL LIVE-STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, October 29, 1868.

CATTLE.

There has been a fair volume of business since the date of our last report, the sales in the aggregate, reaching 1,278 head against 1,353 head for the week preceding. The offerings were mainly of a common and inferior character, and, as a consequence, the prices reported do not indicate the true condition of the market, as prime to extra shipping steers would have brought higher figures than any of those below reported. The tendency, however, is downward, and is likely to continue so, as the offerings in nearly all of the leadings are large and considerably in excess of the demand. Besid s, the impression is gaining ground that beef, like flour, must come down, and dealers generally are shaping their operations with the fact in view.

HOGS.

The receipts of Hogs have been large, and prices are declining from to-day. The arrivals from way points seem to be falling off, and whilst this is the case, Chicago is sending forward extra supplies, and dealers find trouble in buying Yorkers at $7, and Philadelphia extra at $8,50. Buyers consider Chicago Hogs worth ¼c per pound more than Ohio or Indiana Hogs, owing to the difference of shrink from here to the eastern markets. At the close of the market to-day, a great many remained in the pens unsold, and the receipts were heavy. The sales reported on Friday morning last were 3,009 head at from $7 to $9.25. Sales to-day 3,029 head, at from $6,75 to $9. Total sales for the week 8,938 head, against 9,568 the previous week. The following are the sales reported:

SHEEP.

We have no particular change to note in regard to Sheep. The receipts are drooping off considerably from those noted for past few weeks. The quality offering is better, but there is still too many for the demand. We noticed one lot brought in by Mr. Jordan & Son, of Indiana, and passed through en route to New York, which were very fine for Indiana stock, but could not be sold here for four dollars per hundred. The sales reported on Friday last were 6,027 head at a range of from $2,75@4,12 per hundred. Sales reported to-day 3,298 head, at from $2,30@3,00 per hundred. Total sales for the week 0,325 head against 9,747 head the previous week. At the close of the market there remained a large number in the pens, and the arrivals were very large. We note sales as follows:

Hedges & Taylor to S. Miller 182, weighing 16,800; Holmes, L. & Co to W. Hill 204, weighing 17,550, at $3.37; John Carnes to W. Hill 216, weighing 17,875 at 3,50; W. Coulter to A. & W. [From Harper's Bazar.]

MEN OF THE PERIOD.

DEAR BAZAR: I have been thinking for a long time of writing to you on a subject very near to my heart; for I believe when we have thoughts that clamor for expression, and yet are too sacred to be mentioned even to our nearest and dearest, we are expected to tell them to the newspaper; and for my part it is such a strange thing for me to have thoughts at all, that I am anxious to display them to the world as quickly as possible.

I am not sure, after all, that mine are thoughts, but only feelings. I leave it to you to decide. I honestly confess that, as I have had a pretty good time in life for twenty years or so as demoiselle, I am not unwilling to look forward to a sweet little home of my own, with a pretty library, a nice conservatory, and various little notions I will not stop to talk about now, all preceded by the sweetest trousseau a doting mother could give her daughter out of a limited income. But dear mamma is nothing of a manager, and it costs a great deal to get married nowadays, when men are so fearfully indolent and ruinously extravagant; and our people around here are not quite millionaires. So I really do not know what I am to do, unless you will befriend me with a little advice and some information. I know a great many excellent young gentlemen whom I am very sure I could bring to my feet (that's the story-writing phrase, isn't it?) with a word; but as Dr. Holmes' John pathetically remarks, "Marriage isn't for them." No sensible girl could think for a moment of trusting her future in their hands unless she has a million or two of her own; when people have that they can give themselves up to any absurdity they wish. What with their cigars, their pipes, their clubs, their utter ignorance of all domestic affairs, the men now-a-days, though very pleasing visitors and charming beaux, are deplorably unsuited for husbands. I have heard my grandmother say — dear old lady! she was a wonderful woman; could cook and spin, and make cheese as easily as you would dance the galop, went five times to church of a Sunday, and never saw a railroad, read a dozen newspapers, or heard of the Atlantic cable in her life; one of the women of a past era whom all good people now deplore—well, I have often heard my grandmother say that my grandfather, when he was a young man, sawed his own wood, put in his own coal, carried his own bundles, mended his own fences, and with his own hands built his own log cabin; if he had been traveling he would have wheeled his own trunk to the station. If we only had such men nowadays! If we had, then, good, pleasant, well bred girls would not have to sigh in single blessedness for want of millions and billions and trillions to support matrimony with. But the good old days are gone. Nowadays, if one's coy lips do let slip the frightened yes, such an array of tailors' bills, and porters' bills, and carpenters' bills, and the man-that-puts-in-the-winter's-fuel bills, and all that sort of thing, arise before one's eyes that indeed, even though he pays them, one is really staggered; for how is one ever to keep up appearances, have pretty bonnets, and pay the dress maker, let her sew and turn and economise her best; when she is yoked to so useless a mate? I am sure that I need not enlarge upon this text---we women have all heard something like it ever since we were as tall as a cookery book. It is "the beam in their own eye" which our young men do not seem even to dream of. If you should chance to know any handsome, high-born, high-bred young gentleman of unexceptionable habits, who dresses in the very best of material and in perfect taste, (I am not fastidious, but I have nerves,) holds a high position in the best society, reads Latin, Greek and Hebrew, and speaks all the modern languages fluently; who has, in short, all the modern accomplishments and a thorough education (no superficial smattering of this, that and the other for me,) with a perfect knowledge of all the arts and sciences; who never stepped on a lady's dress, nor ever made a social blunder; who can saw wood, bring water from the well, and who is in fact a first-class carpenter, farmer, coal heaver, coachman, mason, picture hanger, gas fitter, and plumber, besides his regular profession; who never has his collars rumpled, or his hands hard or soiled, whatever he is doing---if you know such a one, frugal, industrious, intellectual, and good tempered, I should like well to know and be supported by him. For I am not exacting. I believe in humoring a husband when he knows his place, and religiously tries to save all the money he can to pay his wife's wants; and I am not one of those who would insist on his never smoking a cigar, or once in a while, when I haven't any one else to take me, going to the opera with me, or for a drive; for we are a provincial people, and do not often hear a genuine song bird.

What do you think about it? Won't you speak about it to some of those modest young gentlemen who require that the woman they marry shall not be out of her teens, shall be simple as a dove, gay as a linnet, fresh as a morning glory, wise as Cornelia, discreet as Susannah, a superb musician, a first class cook, a belle of the first water, a housekeeper of more than Napoleonic talent, a brilliant conversationalist, and a neat chambermaid and nursery governess, all with the most profound respect and humble submission to her natural lord and master? SAPHRONISCA.

The Practical Sense of Rules of Table Etiquette.

Among the rules of social etiquette, many of which are undoubtedly trifling, a good number will be found to be based on a sound common sense. Consider, for example, that rule of the dinner table, do not ask twice for soup. This appears at first sight both silly and arbitrary. It is, however, a very sensible ordinance, and it is to be justified by the laws of health and the general comfort and convenience. The soup, being a fluid substance, can easily be absorbed in small quantities, and thus taken, is a good preparative for the solidities of the dinner. If, however, the stomach is deluged with it, the appetite and digestion becomes weakened, and there is neither the inclination to eat nor the power to digest the more substantial food essential to the due nutrition of the body.

As for the convenience or comfort of the single-plate rule, no one can deny it who has looked upon an array of hungry guests whose eager appetite for the coming roast is compelled to an impatient delay by some social monster capable of asking for soup twice. The cook in the meantime is, of course, thrown out in his calculations, and the dish, when it does come at last, is either spoiled by overcooking, or cold from being withdrawn so long from the fire. The guests thus are not only tired in temper by a protracted expectation, but baulked of their anticipated enjoyment. The advantage of not putting the knife in the mouth will be obvious, we suppose, to all who are conscious that one can cut and the other is capable of being cut. There is an excellent chemical reason for that other table rule which forbids the use of a knife of steel with the fish, the ordinary sauces of which combine with that metal, and produce a composition neither wholesome nor appetizing.—Harper's Bazar.

The Earthquakes in San Francisco.

The recent earthquakes in San Francisco created a terrible panic. A correspondent states that the streets were filled with men and women in their night clothes, running hither and thither in great alarm. Animals of all kinds felt the shock; horses became wild with terror, and some were thrown down by the motion of the earth, while others started and ran away. Dogs were barking and running through the streets, apparently not knowing what they were doing. Birds even noticed the great convulsion of nature. But few persons would enter buildings, and those would stampede into the streets with a rush whenever a slight vibration indicated that the earth was not yet settled. The earthquake took precedence over everything, business being for the time forgotten, and all looked as if another night might come that would swallow the city; yet with all this fear the people tried to look cheerful as they told their experience and related their hair-breadth escapes. Many most ludicrous incidents occurred. Persons in the country noticed an upheaving and opening of the earth in several places. Large masses of rock, several tons in weight, were detached and rolled down the hill and mountain sides were violently shaken, and water made its appearance where all was dry before. From some streams bubbles containing inflammable gas has risen to the surface. Although one hundred buildings in the city have been damaged more or less, a thorough examination proves that those buildings which have been properly constructed will stand much heavier shocks. The Occidental and the Cosmopolitan Hotels, the Lick House, and the Russ House, the largest buildings in the city, are uninjured, except that in some instances the chimneys were thrown down and the plastering cracked. The damage west of Montgomery street is very slight, very few buildings occupying solid ground showing any damage whatever. The greatest wreck of buildings and destruction of property was confined to the eastern and southern portions of the city, where the buildings are erected on made ground.

The Earthquake at New Madrid, Mo.,

This phenomenon, which occurred in the Mississippi Valley during the winter of 1811–12, has been called to the recollections of aged citizens by the recent convulsion of nature in California. The accounts given at the time, state that the land, both below and above New Madrid, was sunk several feet and covered with water. The shocks were accompanied by loud explosions, and chasms were opened in the ground, from which volumes of water and steam were discharged. Islands in the Mississippi river were sunk and the current of the stream was driven back for several hours, for a distance of eighteen miles, and overflowed the adjacent land. About one half of New Madrid county and the village of New Madrid were submerged, one of the lakes formed being sixty miles long and several miles wide. The earth rose in great undulations, and when they reached a certain height, the soil burst, and vast columns of sand, water and substance resembling coke were thrown out. It may be recollected that during the rebellion the Union forces turned the position of Island No. 10, on the Mississippi river, by the construction of a canal in one of the chasms formed by the earthquake of 1811, below New Madrid.

Earthquakes are said to be very common in a region of country embracing Southeastern Missouri, Arkansas and the Indian Territory. Among the Ozark mountains there are several extinct volcanoes, and one is reported to have shown symptoms of activity within the last three years. The hot springs in the Indian Territory are continually exhibiting the connection with the internal fires of the earth.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Daily Prayer Meeting—From 12 M. to 12:30 o'clock at the Rooms of the Christian Association, No. 23 Fifth street.

Religious.—Rev. Dr. A. A. Hodge, of Allegheny, will preach a sermon on "The Resurrection" to-morrow evening in the Hazlewood School House.

Correction.—In our report of the demonstration at New Brighton, we stated that the Sewickley club numbered twenty-five men. It should have read seventy-five.

Base Ball.—The last game of base ball of the season will be played this afternoon, at Union Park, Allegheny, between the Merchants Base Ball Club, of Allegheny, and the Fearless Club, of Paris, Pa.

Stopped.—The clock on the Trinity Church tower, Sixth avenue, stopped keeping time on Wednesday at 10:45 A. M., much to the inconvenience of the residents in the vicinity, who have adopted it as a standard.

Assault and Surety.—Margaret Cunningham made information before the Mayor yesterday, against her husband for assault and surety. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

New Chandelier.—A new chandelier is being put up in the dome of the Academy of Music. Messrs. Weldon & Kelly are performing the work. It is one of the largest size.

Officer Gumbert started for Hagerstown, Mayland, last evening, having in charge the prisoner Harry Weaver, charged with the murder of Andrew Rowland, of Hagerstown.

Personal.—We are under personal obligation to Messrs. Edward Roach, J. A. Taylor and H. S. Ayers for personal courtesy and favor shown us in our capacity as reporter at the Sharpsburg demonstration last night.

Confiscated.—One hundred and eleven pounds of butter, being short of weight, was confiscated in the Pittsburgh market yesterday morning by officers Dressler and Wrigley, who turned them over to the guardians of the poor.

The attention of persons desirous of buying property in a pleasant and convenient locality, where it is daily increasing in value, is directed to the advertisement of Lawrenceville property for sale. The owner is moving to the country.

Lost.—One of the participants from Pittsburgh in the Sharpsburg torchlight procession, last evening, lost a valuable watch chain, with gem seal attached, while riding on horseback over the route. The finder will receive a liberal reward by returning it to this office.

Fell from a Ladder.—Mr. T. Wright, residing on Second (Duquesne) street, fell from a ladder on Sixth street, Wednesday arternoon, a distance of about fifteen feet, breaking his right leg below the knee and suffering other severe injuries. He was conveyed to his residence, where his injuries were properly dressed.

New Fire Alarm Bell.—The Fire Alarm bell and striking apparatus, for the Lawrenceville extension, was removed to its destination yesterday morning, and will be placed in position immediately. The bell, which is one of the largest size, was manufactured by Fulton & Son. It will be stationed in the belfry of the Lawrenceville Public School House.

Severe Accident.—Between four and five o'clock yesterday afternoon, a young man in the employ of Messrs. R. C. Loomis & Co., shoe dealers on Wood street, fell through the hatchway, breaking his right arm, cutting his forehead and otherwise injuring him. He was attended by Drs. Sutton and Le Moyne. Two years since a brother of this young man was severely injured by falling through the same hatchway.

Queensware.—Grocers and country dealers are reminded that at the office and ware-rooms of S. S. M. Kier & Co's Keystone Pottery, 303 Liberty street, they can obtain in splendid variety and at lowest prices, queensware, bristolware, pottery, &c. This well managed and extensive establishment already monopolizes a large share of trade, which is constantly increasing, as the public are rapid to discover where they can purchase to best advantage. Orders by mail are solicited.

Malicious Trespass.—James O'Rourke made information yesterday before Alderman McMasters against Joseph Howard for malicious trespass. The prosecutor alleges that he rented the premises, No. 9 Wood street, to Howard, who is a barber, and has been carrying on that business at the place mentioned for the last seven months without paying any rent for the same. O'Rourke states further that when he gave notice to Howard that he must leave, the latter commenced to tear up the floor and otherwise endeavored to injure the building so as to make it untenable in the future. A warrant was issued.

The Lecture Season.

The committee having in charge the arrangements for the course of lectures during the coming season, under the auspices of the Mercantile Library Association, have done their work well and deserve the highest credit for their energy and efficiency. The season will undoubtedly be one of the most brilliant we have ever had in the city, a glance at the list of eminent lecturers secured being a sufficient proof of this. The first lecture of the season will be delivered by Henry Vincent, the distinguished English orator, on the evening of November 9th. We hope that the efforts of the committee will be duly appreciated by the public, and their labors find ample remuneration.

New Gas Lamp.

The Street Committee have caused the erection of a new gas lamp, larger in size than than the old one, at the corner of Wood street and Fifth avenue. The new lamp contains the names of the streets, lettered on the four sides. The lettering is done on a narrow slip of glass, framed with tin and fastened to the post by means of a projecting piece of tin at the ends, which slide down in grooves between the lamp and the frame, easily taken out when required. These lettered slips can be adjusted to almost any lamp, so that no new one will be needed. The plan has been tried in other cities and found to work well. It is certainly a great improvement over the old method of naming the streets, and much more economical.

Supposed Incendiarism.

Mr. James Crawford made information yesterday before Justice Berry, of Mifflin township, against Eliza Soles, for arson. It seems that Mr. Crawford's barn containing a large quantity of hay and grain, was burned down on Wednesday morning, the building and contents being completely destroyed. At the time of the fire all of the members of Mr. Crawford's family were away except himself, he and Mr. William Sales being engaged on another part of the farm, distant from the building. It contained about two hundred bushels of wheat, five hundred bushels of oats, several tons of hay, several sets of harness, together with a lot of agricultural implements, all of which were totally consumed, and upon which there was no insurance. Mr. Crawford states that he has reason to believe that the barn was set on fire, and hence the information. The accused was arrested and after a hearing committed for trial in default of bail in the sum $1,000.

STANTON.

Meeting at City Hall—Grand Ovation to Hon. Edwin M. Stanton—Address of Mr. Stanton.

The meeting at City Hall last night was one of the largest held during the campaign. The Republicans of the city turned out en masse and extended such a welcome to Hon. Edwin M. Stanton as a President might feel proud of. The meeting was announced to take place at 7½ o'clock P. M., and fully an hour before that time every seat in the vast auditorium was occupied, and when the hour for calling the meeting to order had arrived, not a single inch of room remained in the Hall unoccupied. The meeting was called to order by Major E. A. Montooth, who announced the following officers:

President—Thomas McConnell, Esq.

Vice Presidents—Hon. A. W. Loomis, Capt. M. W. Beltzhoover, C. D. Brigham, W. M. Lyon, John Stewart, Dr. T. W. Shaw, John Brown, Wm. Neeb, Andrew Sims, Alex. Wilson, Esq., F. B. Penniman, Esq., J. J. Siebenick, James Veech, Esq., James Montooth, Dr. Joseph Abel, James Park, Jr., James A. Hutchinson, Samuel Gormly, Wm. H. Kincaid, Geo. R. White, James Onslow, Daniel O'Neil.

Secretaries—Reporters of the Republican press.

Mr. McConnell, on taking the chair, after thanking the audience for the honor conferred upon him, referred to Mr. Stanton in the most complimentary terms, and then spoke of Gen. Grant in the most eloquent manner. He then introduced Prof. Pope, who favored the audience with an excellent campaign song. A song from the Keystone Glee Club followed, after which the band played a patriotic air.

The Chairman then introduced to the meeting

HON. EDWIN M. STANTON.

The appearance of Mr. Stanton was hailed with loud and prolonged applause, at the conclusion of which he spoke as follows:

Fellow-Citizens of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County:—The first blow against the rebellion was dealt by you in your own city. It was on the 20th day of December, 1860. When you discovered the conspiracy against the Government of the United States, in the attempt made by Floyd, then Secretary of War, to rob your arsenal of the arms and munitions of war stored there, for the purpose of placing them along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and their tributaries, to obstruct their navigation, the streets of your city were thronged with an excited crowd, who determined to thwart him in his villainy. He was met by strong arms and brave hearts, and the plan was defeated. The importance of the free navigation of these noble rivers and their tributaries was too well known by you, citizens of Pittsburgh, to allow yourselves to be cut off from its benefits without making an effort to prevent it. By a remarkable coincidence, it happened on the same day you struck the first blow against the rebellion, here in the city of Pittsburgh the noble commander of the little garrison at Fort Moultrie vacated that fort and removed his forces to Sumpter, to be better better able to withstand the traitorous attack he knew would be made upon him.

The first act of the traitors, notwithstanding your efforts to prevent it, was to close the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, down the channels of which your commerce had been carried to the Gulf, and they remained closed until Grant and his noble army of soldiers opened them at Vicksburg—three cheers for Grant—[immense cheering,] until Admiral Farragut and his brave followers forced a passage with the iron fleet—three cheers for Farragut—[prolonged cheering,] until Gen. Butler, who stationed at the mouth of the Mississippi, taught the proud rebels of the Crescent City to respect the laws of the nation—three cheers for Butler—[prolonged applause.]

The war commenced and was carried on for almost five years, the Mississippi and its tributaries were closed to navigation and remained closed until after the battle of Vicksburg, which was the first ray of light that broke through the dark cloud of treason which hovered over the land. Then commenced the glorious achievements of Grant and his noble army; then victory crowned our noble banner wheresever it waved.

You, my friends, were not the only sufferers by this unholy war against your State. A traitorous host, led by the rebel Lee, invaded the rich and fertile valleys of the eastern portion of your loyal State, carrying with them destruction of life and devastation of property, striking at your capital, and but for the intervention of General Meade and his loyal host, the bones of thousands of whom lay mouldering in the National Cemetery at Gettysburg, would have doubtless laid it in ashes. (Three hearty cheers for Gen. Meade.) Do you ask who perpetrated wrong, who it was that destroyed your commerce, robbed your banks, stole your arms and munitions of war and depleted your treasury? I answer that it was the Major Generals of Jeff. Davis and his traitorous hosts, Forrest, Hampton, Preston and others, whose agent and candidate for President you are now asked to vote for and place in the Executive Mansion. If you should have been asked to trust the Government in the hands of these men or their agents four years ago, I ask whether your minds would not have been shocked, whether you would not have considered it an insult to your patriotism. Next Tuesday you will be asked to decide by your ballot whether the Government, whose life has been saved by the Republican party, at a sacrifice of thousands upon thousands of your sons and brothers, and untold millions of treasure, shall remain in their keeping, or be entrusted in the hands of the agents of Forrest, Hampton and Preston.

The speaker here referred to the object of the rebels in nominating Seymour and Blair, and said it was because they had northern allies, who, like themselves, desired the destruction of the Government. The object in making war against the Government was for the purpose of destroying it and setting up a slave oligarchy. Have they changed within the past five years, or do they still desire the overthrow of the Government? Have they given any evidence of contrition or repentance for their treason? Forrest was one of the last men to give up the cause, and then only when he saw there was no earthly hope of success. And Preston held out to the last and left the country rather than surrender to his conqueror, but he returned in time to help make a Democratic candidate for President. This is no evidence of repentance. They stood in the same attitude to this Government in the New York Convention on the fourth of July, that they did while in open rebellion under arms and on the field of battle. They are the enemies of the Government, and are working for its destruction. Having failed in the attempt to destroy it by the bayonet, they now attempt that more peaceful, yet no less effective weapon, the ballot. Do their candidates differ from them as to their intentions? certainly not. Blair was nominated by Hampton, and the nomination was seconded by Forrest and received with enthusiasm by the entire delegation of rebels. Seymour, although not placed in nomination by the rebels, presided over the Convention, and his nomination was acquiesced in by them without a single dissenting voice. Mr. Seymour has made a tour through ten of the States of this Union imploring the votes of the people to elevate him to the Presidency, and, although making speeches daily to vast multitudes of people, he has not said a single word to show that his views were different from those of Hampton, Forest, Preston and the host of rebels who aided in placing him in nomination. How is it with the candidate for Vice President? Blair's Brodhead letter leaves no doubts of his sentiments. In it he proclaims that the action of Congress in reconstructing the States lately in rebellion is unconstitutional, revolutionary and void and advocates the overthrow of the State governments in these States, and proposes to thus trample the laws in the dust. It was this letter secured him the nomination, as is well known by the declarations of Wade Hampton, after his return to Charleston, from the New York Convention. Against these premises the Republican party stands arrayed, and as firm as they were in the Wilderness or at Richmond.

In reply to the argument against the reconstruction policy of Congress, he stated that Mr. Seymour, in a speech in the West had said "that at the close of the war the responsibility of reconstruction belonged to the Republican party. He here read an extract from Seymour's speech at Indianapolis. Mr. Johnson had assumed that authority, and he was certainly not a Republican, as he was in the interest of the New York candidate, yet Mr. Seymour would hold the Republican party responsible.

After referring to the suppression of the slave slaveholders Democratic rebellion, Mr. Stanton said that it now remained for the Republican party to complete the victory on Tuesday next; which they were sure to do with the standard in the hands of General Grant. Four great States, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Nebraska, on the 13th of last month, pronounced against Forrest, Hampton, Preston and their agents, Seymour and Blair, in favor of General Grant, and since that time West Virginia had spoken against treason and its hosts in thunder tones by an increased majority. [Prolonged cheers.]

In referring to Mr. Seymour's tour he said he had gone forth at the suggestion of his friends, and had strictly followed out the course laid out by them. In all his speeches not one word had been said against the rebellion or those engaged in it. He finds a few mistakes in the manner the Republican party have conducted the finances of the country, but not one word is said about the war, not one word about the number of lives lost, or who was responsible for the sacrifice. This he held was no argument against Grant, what had he to do with the finances of the country? If the mistake was made during the war Grant was at the head of the army in the field, and if since the rebels had been conquered, he was administering the affairs of the army, attending to his own business and not meddling with the affairs of the treasury. Admit there were a thousand mistakes in the management of the finance, it was no argument against the election of Grant.

Mr. Seymour's speeches, he said, were of a character suitable for a canvass in some Congressional district, but had no reference whatever to a canvass for the Presidency. We are not electing Grant to take charge of the treasury, but to command the army and navy. If we wanted some one to take a slate and pencil and calculate the interest on stocks, railroad dividends, &c., Seymour might answer the purpose, but he thought he would make a poor figure with a cocked hat on issuing orders to Admiral Farragut.

Seymour's financial argument, he said, had been so ably refuted by Governor Morton, that it was scarcely necessary for the speaker to refer to it. He had met every issue fairly and fully demonstrated the fallacy of Seymour's position.

Mr. Seymour, he said, was continually croaking about the immense debt, but he never once mentioned how the debt was created, or who it was that forced the Government to contract the debt. He also complained of high taxes, but he fails to tell his hearers that these taxes are imposed to save the credit of the nation which his friends attempted to destroy, and to pay the debt they have heaped upon the Government. But suppose the taxes were ten fold higher than they are, what difference does that make to Hampton, Forest, Preston and the New York candidates? These taxes were raised by the rebel war, and, although they are heavy and burdensome, there is not a mechanic in the city of Pittsburgh, or a farmer in the broad expanse of Allegheny county, who does not rejoice because he had substance to bear his share of the burden to save his country from the hands of traitors who tried to destroy it in open rebellion, and save the nation from disgrace after the rebellion had been conquered. Gov. Seymour talks as though taxes were everything, but the men of Allegheny county thought something else of value when you left the wives of your bosoms, and gave your first-born a sacrifice on the nation's altar.

If the taxes were high, they were made so by the rebellion, and every man in the Union has had a cost price added to every article he purchases by the men who now desire to make Seymour President.

Mr. Seymour complains that the war was carried on with extravagance. To this charge, or at least a portion of it, the speaker said he would plead guilty. The loyal people of the North were extravagant in their patriotism. At the first call for men and money by that great and good man Abraham Lincoln, they flew to Washington, and forcing their way into the White House, where Mr. Lincoln was, laid the treasure of the nation at his feet. War is always extravagant. It takes thousands of men from the busy pursuits of life, who were engaged in producing, and places them in the army, where they are consumers. But the loyal people of the North little expected to hear such men as Forrest, Preston, and Hampton, or their agents, complaining of the extravagance of a war their treason had forced the nation to engage in. They thought rather that a rope would have ended the career of these traitors. (Prolonged applause.) But, instead, they are found in Seymour's office cyphering out the cost of the war, and grumbling about the amount of powder consumed, and wondering if we could not have got along without so much powder; they find that it cost so many millions for rations, and wonder why we used so many rations; and our expenses for clothing, transportion, hospital stores, &c., were all too high. I plead guilty to the extravagance. I issued warrants for four hundred millions of treasure, and called two million men from their firesides to the field to suppress this unholy war.

Mr. Seymour, he said, had been looking over the Blue Book and had there discovered that there were about sixty thousand office holders in the Federal Government, and of this he complained, but never told his hearers how many men it required to run the machinery of this Government. He is always finding fault but fails to point out any remedy.

While at Columbus, Ohio, Mr. Seymour had discovered that pork and corn were not commanding as high a price as they should do, and this he presented as an argument against the election of Gen. Grant. In his Columbus speech he had, in imploring sympathy for his Southern brethren, referred to the graves of northern men throughout the Southern States, but failed to explain how these graves came there. How dare he or his rebel friends refer to the graves of our loved ones in an appeal for sympathy for these murderers? I would like to meet him here to-night and demand of him an explanation of how these graves came there and who is responsible for them?

The speaker referred to the Democratic theory of taxation, and said that the whole aim of the Democracy during the present campaign had been to create a dissatisfaction between the workingmen and their employers.

In referring to that portion of Mr. Seymour's speech in which he asked that the Southern men be treated with leniency, he said that there never was a more lenient set of men collected together than was the first Congress after the close of the war. They believed the reports from the conquered army in Virginia, and each member was striving to outdo the others in extending favors to the rebels. A few months, however, proved that the reported penitence of the traitors was all a farce, and it then became necessary to adopt a more stringent course with them. The bitterness and violence of those traitors was the same that it ever was, as the numberless graves of murdered Union men and inoffensive freedmen would testify. All along the border States tides of emigration were flowing, not to the rich and fertile valleys of the South, but the other way, and would continue so to do until after Grant's election.

In accepting the nomination from the Chicago Convention Gen. Grant had imposed but one condition, and that was, "Let us have Peace." [Prolonged cheering.]

If you wish to restore peace and prosperity throughout this, our happy land, and bring into requisition all the resources of wealth with which the nation abounds; if you desire to see the Union re-established on a firmer basis, and the laws equally enforced in every State, and for the protection of every citizen, vote for Gen. Grant, and within sixty days after his inauguration all trouble will be at an end.

The speaker closed amid deafening and prolonged cheers.

Hon. A. W. Loomis was then introduced and said he had retired from politics and had thought that it would never have been his good fortune again to address his countrymen. The last time he addressed the people of Pittsburgh was at the great war meeting that was held in this same Hall at the outbreak of the rebellion. Thank God, now the war is over and our liberties have been preserved and a triumphant victory has crowned the efforts of our brave soldiers. To some men our nation is under the deepest gratitude, and I know of no one to whom—and I speak with the greatest sincerity—they are under deeper obligations than to the Hon. E. M. Stanton.

When I was out on the shores of Lake Superior I was asked who was the greatest and most formidable opponent to meet in the forum. I answered I knew of none I feared more to meet than Edwin M. Stanton.

Mr. Seymour says we have taxation, but what is taxation compared with the price of Liberty. We will say pick the flint and try it again and elect General Grant. I am now past the age allotted to most men, being more than three score and ten, and if I should be called away, if Grant is elected, I shall leave this land in a prosperity unprecedented, with a future in prospect, of grandeur and glory.

Hon. E. M. Stanton then arose and said he had one claim against Allegheny county: he asked for 12,000 of a majority for Grant and Colfax.

The Keystone Glee Club was then introduced and sung an excellent song. The Central Glee Club then sang "Cheer, boys Cheer." "Rally Round the Flag" was next sung, by request of Hon. E. M. Stanton, the whole audience joining in the chorus, after which the meeting adjourned.

Pickpockets Caged.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Anna C. Watt, residing in McClure township, on the line of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, was robbed of her pocket book under the following circumstances: She had been up in Allegheny shopping during the day, and after getting through took a seat in the four o'clock accommodation train, at the Allegheny station, intending to return home. She had been seated but a few minutes when a well dressed young man came into the car and sat down beside her. The train moved shortly afterwards and the young man rode as far as the outer depot when he got off. When Mrs. Watt arrived home she discovered the absence of her pocket book containing a check on the Farmers Deposit bank of this city, drawn by J. P. Dake for forty-seven dollars and sixty-five cents, and some small change in currency and silver. She came back to the city early yesterday and learning at the bank that the check had not been cashed, concluded to wait for a time, expecting that the thief would soon make his appearance. In this she was not disappointed, as she had waited but a few minutes when the young man who had taken a seat beside her the day before came in and presented the check. While the teller detained the chap a few minutes, she went out and procured the services of officer McKelvy, who arrested and took him to the office of Alderman Humbert. Mrs. Watt here fully identified the man as the one who committed the theft while on the train. The small change he had used and thrown away the pocket-book. Mrs. Watt made information against him for larceny, and in default of $500 bail he was committed for trial.

The Cathedral Tower.

The cap stone of the Cathedral tower was laid yesterday afternoon by the architect, Mr. Bartberger, in the presence of a few persons who had the nerve to ascend two hundred and sixty-five feet in the air, to witness the operation. Immediately after the stone was placed in position Mr. Bartberger performed the ceremony of christening according to the ancient time-honored custom, by breaking a bottle of wine and pouring the liquid upon it, after which a general jollification, as it seems to those below, took place. One enthusiastic individual mounted the stone and covered himself with glory by discharging a pistol several times into the upper air; satisfied, he gave way to another, who, in lieu of a shooting exhibition, expressed himself by taking off his head covering and waving it in a remarkably animated manner, considering his position, and the fact that he was in great danger of waving himself to the ground below. Others mounted the stone in rapid sucession until all had given vent to their feelings, after which an adjournment took place to the common walks and ways of men.

The work on the tower is not altogether finished. It is the intention to surmount it with a massive cross, surrounded on its edge with gas jets which will be lighted up at night on appropriate occasions. The cross is in course of preparation and will be placed in position in about two weeks. The whole cost of the tower when completed, we understand will not fall far short of $30,000. It is a handsome and imposing piece of architecture and will hereafter form one of the principal attractions in the architectural embelishment of our city.

Obituary.

It is with feelings of sorrow that we record the demise of one who was well and favorably known in the community, Mr. George A. Keslar, who expired at his residence in Allegheny city, on Wednesday evening last. The deceased was in the twenty-eighth year of his age, in the full vigor of manhood's early prime, when he was attacked by that fell-destroyer, consumption, which terminated his mortal career and added another to its long list of victims. He had served, with honor and credit in the army during the last three years of the rebellion as Sergeant in Co. B, Twelfth Penna. Reserves, and just previous to his last sickness was engaged at the office of the Evening Mail. In all the varied positions of life, at the home fireside, in the social circle, or out in the business world he was much beloved by those with whom he was intimate, and highly respected and esteemed by all with whom he had acquaintance or intercourse.

VERDICT OF GUILTY.

In the case of Commonwealth vs. Thomas Grogan, indicted for felonious assault and battery, reported on trial yesterday, was resumed. The jury returned a verdict of guilty.

THE FIFTH WARD RIOT.

Thomas Grogan, indicted for malicious mischief, D. P. Hoyle prosecutor, was placed on trial. An indictment was found against the defendant and John Murphy, but the latter has not been arrested. These parties and others were arrested on a charge of riot and taken before the Mayor who upon a hearing at the instance of the counsel for the prosecution, dismissed the case, after which the information for malicious mischief, upon which the indictment was found, was made. The offence alleged was the breaking of a window in the store of Hoyle & Briggs, jewellers, on Wylie street. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty, defendant to pay the costs.

LARCENY BY BAILEE.

The next case taken up was the Commonwealth vs. Charles Jeremy, indicted for larceny by bailee, Mrs. Margaret Edwards prosecutrix. The prosecutrix alleges that some six months since the defendant purchased her interest in a house on Penn street, for which he gave in payment a promissory note, payable by him to her, for the sum of $395. Subsequently, she alleges, he obtained the note, promising to return it at any time she desired it, but that she had applied to him for it repeatedly, and he had failed to return it. The defense claimed that there was a business transaction between the parties, and that a settlement had been effected between them in which the note in question was included. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty without leaving the box.

Court then adjourned.

A Good Investment.

R. B. Francis, Esq., City Controller, advertises in another column that the Park Commission, of Allegheny city, is now ready to negotiate a loan of three hundred thousand dollars. This is an excellent opportunity for the investment of capital and one which we have no doubt will be quickly embraced by men of means. The bonds to be issued have but a comparatively short time to run, will pay a good interest, and are perfectly safe and sure, three considerations which should certainly satisfy even the most cautious. Sealed proposals will be received at the Controller's office until Tuesday, November 3rd, at 3 o'clock, P. M. for the bonds, the Commission reserving the right to reject any or all bids. By referring to the advertisement, elsewhere, those interested can get the full particulars.

The Friendship Ball.—The annual ball of the Friendship Fire Company takes place to-night at the Rink, on Robinson street. COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

BY JOHN W. GEARY, GOVERNOR.

Unto God, our Creator, we are indebted for life and all its blessings. It, therefore, becomes us at all times to render unto Him the homage of grateful hearts; and in the performance of our sacred duties, to set apart special periods to "enter into His gates with thanksgiving, and into His courts with praise." For this purpose, and in accordance with an established custom, I have designated

Thursday, the 26th Day of November Next,

And I recommend that the people of this Commonwealth on that day refrain from their usual avocations and pursuits, and assemble at their chosen places of worship, to "praise the name of God and magnify Him with thanksgiving;" devoutly to acknowledge their dependence, and lay upon His altars the cheerful offerings of grateful hearts.

Let us thank him with Christian humility for health and prosperity, abundant harvests, the protection of commerce, and advancement of scientific, mechanical and manufacturing interests; our progress in education, morality, virtue and social order; the increase of our material wealth; exemption from pestilence and contagious diseases, and the destructive influences of war; for having blessed us as a people and a nation, and opened before as the brightest prospects for the future; and for all other blessings, both temporal and spiritual.

With sure reliance upon Divine favor let us pray for the forgiveness of our sins, making public confession of our dependence, that we may continue worthy of His parental love and protecting care; that our civil and religious liberties and political rights may remain unimpaired; that we may remember with gratitude our country's brave defenders, and cherish with sympathy their widows and orphan children; and that our paths through life may be directed by the example and instructions of the Redeemer, who died that we might enjoy all the bleesings which temporarily flow therefrom, and eternal life in the world to come.

Givin under my Hand and the Great Seal {L. S.} of the State, at Harrisburg, this twenty-eighth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, and of the Commonwealth the ninety-third.

JOHN W. GEARY.

By the Governor:
F. JORDAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
